Sensory HUG

Designed for individuals with
Autism, ADHD/ADD and SID/SPD to manage sensory seeking behaviours

What is the Sensory Hug?

The Sensory Hug is a garment made of Lycra® and Orthowrap™. The Sensory Hug provides sensory and proprioceptive feedback through dynamic compression. Clinical evidence has demonstrated that deep pressure can reduce overactivity and abnormal behaviour patterns in individuals with sensory processing difficulties. However, providing consistent and continuous deep pressure is challenging and impractical, therefore, the Sensory Hug was designed and created.

Who can use the Sensory Hug?

The Sensory Hug can be used as a treatment for sensory seeking individuals, with conditions such as:

- Autism
- ADHD/ADD
- SID/SPD

Sensory Hug benefits

The Sensory Hug improves an individual's quality of life by helping to:

- Increase attentiveness and concentration
- Increase body awareness and stability
- Manage sensory seeking behaviours
- Improve effective daily functioning
- Calm and comfort the wearer
- Reduce stress and anxiety
- Improve coping ability
- Improve restlessness

How should the Sensory Hug be used?

The Sensory Hug can be worn under or over everyday clothes, whilst providing support and allowing full movement. It can be worn to help with routine or specific activities according to the needs of the wearer.

The Sensory Hug is adjustable, durable and comfortable

The Sensory Hug does not overheat the wearer or restrict movement

Clinical Studies

Over many years studies have shown that treatment with pressure therapy can improve the daily functioning of individuals that require and crave sensory input (Bestbier & Williams 2017).

Each Sensory Hug is manufactured by hand in Orthowrap fabric and Lycra® reinforcing
